Mother, Sisters Greet GI

Standing outside Commonwealth Pier, Mrs. Eleanor Clark of Waltham, holding her grandson, Elliott Harrington, 2, caught a glimpse of her son, S-Sgt. Edward N. Clark, of 399 Lexington st., Waltham, as he is outward-bound for Camp Myles Standish after arriving from Europe today aboard the Santa Maria. Sgt. Clark, standing on the train platform, waves to them as he leaves the pier. Standing behind Mrs. Clark are the sergeant's sisters.

TOKYO, Sept. 28 (AP)—Shipping will be available to send 1,490,000 American servicemen home from the Pacific within the next seven months, Allied heads of state announced it was informed by the War Department today.

Textile Strike in 9 States; 2 Million Idle Over U. S.

By Associated Press
Labor troubles multiplied across the nation today, with nearly 2,000,000 away from work for one reason or another. Actual strikes and shutdowns kept 409,000 off the job and there were 1,500,000 more affected in New York directly or indirectly because of the elevator operators' and buildings service employees' strike there.

Among the latest developments were these:
A union spokesman estimated 62,000 walked out in 284 textile printing and dyeing plants in nine eastern states, despite a ban on work order by their CIO union. The workers demanded 15 cents an hour wage increase.

The general executive board of the CIO United Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Employees of America authorized its Montgomery Ward & Co. organizing committee to call a strike "if negotiations fail to terminate in an agreement."

The CIO United Packing House Workers' Union said it would demand a general wage increase of 25 cents an hour.
John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers' chief, asked the bituminous coal management negotiators to meet him Monday on the mine foremen's dispute, which has made 36,000 idle in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. The dispute revolves about unionization of foremen.

Meanwhile, the threatened nationwide strike of 250,000 CIO oil workers was delayed.
After meeting three days in Chicago, principals in the conciliation conference moved to Washington to resume their efforts tomorrow to effect a settlement in the dispute over wage demands and of the 13-day-old strike of some 35,000 in eight states.

The 6000 workers who walked out in the textile printing and dyeing plants in the Paterson area, members of the CIO Federation of Dyers, Finishers, Printers and Bleachers of America, are demanding, said a union spokesman, a 15-cent-an-hour increase to make up for loss of pay caused by the switch from the 60-hour war-work week to a 40-hour week.

Federation President Joseph W. Knapik said the walkout would affect about 68,000 employees in 214 plants in New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and North and South Carolina.

In the Pacific northwest, a threatened strike of some 37,000 CIO lumber workers was postponed at least until Wednesday, but the area's wood fuel supply was steadily shrinking as the strike by 60,000 AFL workers for wage increases entered its fifth day.

New York city's paralyzing strike of 15,000 AFL building service employees continued, but there was a possibility of arbitration as leaders and their employees agreed to meet with the New York State Labor Board.

The strike-idle in Pennsylvania hit a new high of 77,000, including 28,302 coal miners as 59 pits closed. In West Virginia 27 mines were closed, keeping about 9000 off their jobs.

J. HOWARD McGRATH
Named Solicitor General

Gov. McGrath Gets U. S. Post

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—President Truman has appointed Gov. J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island as solicitor general of the Justice Department.

McGrath Accepts Post As Solicitor General

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Sept. 28 (AP)—Gov. J. Howard McGrath today accepted appointment by President Truman to be solicitor general.

In a statement, the chief executive of the nation's smallest state, said he had decided on this after a conference with his political and business associates. The appointment "comes to me suddenly and quite unexpectedly," he said.

McGrath asserted his decision was helped because he could "turn over the reins of state government to a loyal, devoted and proven public official in the person of our lieutenant-governor, John O. Pastore."

The resignation of McGrath, expected when the Senate confirms his appointment, will give Rhode Island one of the youngest chief executives in the nation. Pastore was 38 last March 17.

Ford Men Here in Strike Vote

Spread of the auto industry labor strife to Massachusetts was foreshadowed today when more than 800 employees of the Ford plant in Somerville balloted to decide on the question of seeking a strike vote under the Smith-Connally Act.

John J. O'Connell, international representative of the United Automobile Workers, CIO, said today's vote was ordered by the national union to learn the workers' desires in the controversy between the UAW and the Ford Motor Co.

He said the Somerville plant was the only unit of the Ford auto empire operating since the shutdown ordered 10 days ago as an outgrowth of a strike in the Kellogg-Hayes plant in the Midwest.

O'Connell also announced a strike vote would be cast Oct. 1

Gen. MacArthur also announced an order for the seizure of 34 Jap officers and men suspected of complicity in the fiendish torch massacre of more than 100 Allied prisoners of war at Palawan in the Philippines Dec. 11, 1944.

Some 725,000 high-point American servicemen already are eligible to return home in October, November, December and January, filling shipping quotas for those months, headquarters said. Shipping will be available in February, March and April for 765,000 expected to be eligible then.

There are 150,000 occupation troops in Japan, in addition to several thousand in air force, engineer and special service units, and if scheduled October landings are made the total will rise to 265,000. Including Army and Marine units in Korea and China, the total would be 340,000, headquarters said.

It announced these tentative homing dates for divisions in the Philippines: 31st Division, Oct. 31; 28th, Nov. 1; 37th, Nov. 15.

The 43d Division, first to go home from the far Pacific, has begun loading high-point men at Yokohama.

It was understood two more Pacific divisions have been alerted for transfer home at an early date, but this could not be confirmed.

The calendar of landings calls for a total of 22 Army and Marine divisions in Japan, Korea and China by November.

No date has been announced for the 32nd Infantry's entry into Sasebo and no date has been fixed for arrival of the 96th and 20th Infantry Divisions in Korea.

In the Palawan massacre, the prisoners, many of them Americans, were driven by Japs into a large air raid shelter. Buckets of gasoline and lighted torches were hurled in after them. A few who escaped the inferno were mowed down by machinegun fire and hand grenades, or brutally bayoneted by the Jap soldiers.

The Japanese ordered arrested range in rank from sergeant to Lt. Col. Ole Sato, presumably in command of the "murder detail."

The supreme Allied commander today forbade reopening of Japan's stock exchange without his approval, but approved reopening of factories to manufacture some essential goods in limited quantities.

Leaders of the workmen meanwhile met to form a new Socialist party, and the reported reorganization of several war-defunct labor unions further marked acceleration of Japan's new liberal movement, which thus far has been markedly Socialistic. No group thus far champions a capitalist democracy.

Move to Save Yanks in Saigon

By CLARK LEE

SINGAPORE, Sept. 28 (INS)—Adm. Mountbatten today received a first-hand report of rioting and unrest in French Indo-China which resulted in the death of Lt. Col.

A. Peter Dewey of the U. S. Office of Strategic Services.

(A London Daily Telegraph dispatch said a state of siege had been declared in the Indo-Chinese capital of Saigon after disclosure that Japanese had encouraged the uprising against continued French control of the area.)

Mountbatten suggested following the conference that Allied vehicles be painted and draped with national flags to avoid further mistakes such as apparently caused Dewey's death and the wounding of Capt. Joseph Coolidge of New Hampshire.

The jeep in which Dewey was riding with U. S. Maj. Herbert Bluechel was marked USA-OSS, but its American flag was furled in conformity with British orders which permitted only general officers' cars to fly national flags.

Saigon Disorders Relax; Terauchi Held as Suspect

SINGAPORE, Sept. 27 (Dezayed) (AP)—Maj. Gen. D. D. Gracey, commander of the Allied forces in south Indo-China, arrived by plane in Singapore today for conferences on the continuing disorders throughout Japan's one-time Greater East Asia co-prosperity sphere.

Gracey said conditions had improved in Saigon, with the Japanese doing a far better job of keeping the peace as a result of his stern orders to Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi, commander of the Japanese southern armies.

Sure Cure

TOKYO, Sept. 28 (INS)—Oddest has ever cure was pronounced today by Masaochi Murakami, Tokyo newsmen:

"When your head throbs from the events of the night before, strip stark naked, stand spraddled-legged on bare earth, then assume an extremely erect position with fists clenched at the small of your back. Then have somebody dump a gallon of cold water over your head."

"This completes the celestial circuit from heaven, through man and into the earth, thereby chasing out the hangover devil."

Belsen Woman Beat PW Who Spurned Her Love

By JOSEPH WILLICOMBE, JR.

LUENEBURG, Sept. 28 (INS)—Anna Hempel, drab, pasty-faced S. S. guard at Belsen's infamous concentration camp, was accused today of lashing a handsome young French prisoner until his blood flowed because he spurned her romantic advances.

TIRED, HUNGRY, THIRSTY—Resting his weary bones as he slakes his thirst with fresh milk, "Hilo," German shepherd mascot of Sgt. Omer Tyree of Chicago, Ill., gets his first taste of American home hospitality. Picked up as a pup in Nuernberg, Germany, the pooch arrived today at Commonwealth Pier aboard the S. S. Santa Maria.

Mother Sights Vet Amid 6000 Arrivals

A Waltham mother gambled on the chance of seeing her soldier son as he debarked at Commonwealth Pier today and won two brief glimpses of him although their actual reunion must await his processing through Camp Myles Standish.

Accompanied by her two daughters, Mrs. Edwin Clark of Lexington st., Waltham, stood outside the pier building and sighted her son, S-Sgt. Edward N. Clark, as he came ashore from the S. S. Santa Maria, first of five transports docking with more than 6000 veterans today.

Hearing their shouts of welcome, he attempted to make his way to them, but was held back by a pier officer.

But as the train pulled away from the pier, taking him and his buddies to Camp Standish, he waved to them from a window.

Sgt. Clark was one of 79 New Englanders among the 1981 aboard the Santa Maria.

Others included PFC John F. Ring, of Walworth st., Roslindale, who can't wait to get out of uniform so he can journey back to Leeds, England, and get his wife. They were married after he rescued her from an air raid shelter which had been struck by a buzz-bomb.

An MP, he was accompanied off the ship by two pals, PFC James J. Jackson of Mali st., Lynn, and PFC Jason Truax of Commercial st., Weymouth. Home to Jackson means a chance to get back to his 2½-year-old son, whom he has seen only once. For Truax it meant reunion with his girl friend in New York.

Red Cross workers passed doughnuts around among the appeal to Cpl. Robert M. Bruce of turning veterans but these did not Henoover, who said he had eaten them all over Europe.

Setting his doughnut on the pier and using a Nazi officer's cane he brought home as a souvenir, Cpl. Bruce golfed the sinker over the top of the waiting train.

Another arrival was PFC Brandon Russo, of Cabot st., Everett, a First Division veteran of two years' overseas service. He can't wait to get back to his wife, Frances, and set up housekeeping.

Later in the morning the S. S. William Patterson docked at the Army Base with 119 veterans, none from New England, while the S. S. Walter Raleigh landed 12 more, none from this area, at Castle Island.

There were 139 New Englanders among 1966 veterans debarking from the U. S. S. Victory, which arrived at Commonwealth Pier shortly after noon, while 127 from this area were included among the 1967 landing from the S. S. Chapel Hill Victory, diverted here from New York.

Slugged, 3 Flee In Somerville Holdup

Three armed bandits seized $500 and 20 checks at the Hub Cash & Carry, wholesale grocery concern in Highland st., Somerville, today, after slugging the manager and a clerk with pistol butts.

The manager, Irving Ravner, and his clerk, Sidney Babichyeh, both of Morton st., Mattapan, were forced into a back room by the trio, who fled in a nautomobile.

Lydia Sonzajn, a Lublin Jewess, told the military court Ann Hempel tried every wile to interest the young Frenchman, Georges. When he scorned her openly, she grew infuriated and, with the help of other guards, beat him mercilessly with her fists and clawed his face with her long fingernails until he was a mass of cuts and bruises.

The witnesses said this was not an isolated case of unrequited love at Belsen.

She said Belsen's S.S. women "made hell's fury seem like a picnic" when prisoners spurned their love.

The Lublin Jewess, who was one of six girls who attempted to destroy the crematorium at Auschwitz, said Josef Kramer, the "beast of Belsen" was personally responsible for "hundreds of thousands of deaths."

She said Kramer always accompanied the guards when they made selections for death and he frequently picked out entire blocks to enter the gas chambers.

Meanwhile, the court prepared for the appearance of Kramer's wife in his defense.

Court authorities prohibited interviews with Frau Kramer, who, during much of the period covered by testimony of torture, starvation and death lived at the Belsen camp commanded by her husband.

Meanwhile, it appeared the atrocity trial of Kramer, and his blonde assistant, Ira Grese, and their 43 co-defendants must continue another month.

Evidence uncovered during the trial indicated the former book-keeper, who served at Oswiecim in Poland before his transfer to Belsen, advised high-ranking Nazis on the construction of horror camps throughout the German zone.

Courtroom observers predicted Kramer if condemned to death, might attempt to save his life by offering to testify against Reichsmarshal Herman Goering and other defendants at coming Nuernberg trials.

Evidence continued to pile up that Kramer was sent to Belsen to accomplish the aims of high-ranking Nazis who sought the extinction of millions of humans unfortunate enough to oppose their sadistic regime.

Miss Sonzajn also charged she once saw Kramer force some Russian girls to kneel on the concrete in front of their cell block in a driving rain for 24 hours when caught stealing bread. She said the women were forced to work on a river project eight miles from camp and every morning guards turned dogs loose on them to "herd" them to their slave labor.

She said Kramer delighted in forcing elderly women to run uphill until they fainted from exhaustion.

MOTHER FAINTS—Unconscious, Mrs. Eleanor Gilby, 28-year-old mother, lies on the floor of police court in Richmond, Cal., during her arraignment on charges of being unfit to care for her three children. Bending over her is Policewoman Mary Peterson. Police, who broke into the Gilby home, found Mrs. Gilby's baby daughter tied in a canvas sack and her two small sons hungry and frightened. The children's father is in the Navy.

Navy Omits Combat Data on Discharges

Hundreds of New England Navy men are being issued discharge certificates at Sampson, N. Y., separation center which contain no entries of the sailor's combat record, wounds, honors or other data of his service, it was learned today.

The Navy's laxness in providing veterans with the information essential to virtually all correspondence concerning ex-servicemen was brought to light by Raymond E. Stein, director of Soldiers' Relief in Weymouth.

Stein notified Francis X. Cotter, State director of Soldiers' Aid and Pensions, Cotter immediately contacted the commanding officer at Sampson and demanded an explanation.

The Sampson commander said the "streamlined" discharges were ordered in a Navy Department bulletin Aug. 15. He explained the men were given the simplified forms to expedite paper work incident to demobilization.

Officials at First Naval District

headquarters said they knew of no such order. They said discharges issued at Fargo Barracks Separation Center, South Boston, contained all the customary data about a man's service.

Cotter protested to Sen. David I. Walsh, chairman of the Naval Affairs Committee. He said the missing information was required when a veteran sought pension, hospitalization or other benefits.

The State Legion executive committee adopted a resolution criticizing the practice and demanded that the Navy resume issuance of regular discharge forms.

Adj. John Powers of the State VWV said he would bring the matter up at the national convention at Chicago next Sunday.

City Vets' Center To Open by Nov. 1

Leaders of Boston's newly-formed Greater Boston Citizens' Committee on Veterans' Services met today and announced plans to open a complete and fully staffed headquarters by Nov. 1.

Frederick W. Bliss, president of the Rotary Club and a General Electric Co. executive, chairman of the committee which will speed the rehabilitation of returning veterans and their adjustment to civilian life, said the site for the headquarters had not been chosen as yet.

"The most important problem is the adjustment of the veteran," he said. "Much has been said about New England not offering proper opportunities for young men. We're going to get those opportunities for these veterans, even if we have to stir up management."

"The employees, too, must exercise patience. Returning servicemen deserve more consideration than the average employee because any man who has been on the firing line for two or three years is going to need some leeway before he adjusts himself."

Bliss said the committee, sponsored by the Greater Boston Community Council and supported by the Greater Boston Community Fund, would devote itself particularly to the problems of Greater Boston veterans, but that its doors would be open to veterans from every part of the nation.

F. Frank Vorenberg, president of Gilchrist's and vice-president of the Community Council, is vice-chairman of the committee. He said the committee was set up at the suggestion of Gov. Tobin in order that the veteran may not get the "run around."

Archbishop Richard J. Cushing, a member of the committee, said it is the hope that returning veterans will be aided by the committee to find their rightful place in the community with the least possible lapse of time.

Labor, business and other groups are represented in the new organization.

Lays Revere Kidnap to Ex-Admirer

State police and the FBI joined Revere police today in investigation of the kidnaping of two small daughters of Mrs. Geraldine Bourne, 25, of Beach st., Revere, allegedly by a former admirer of their mother.

The man, against whom Revere police have obtained two warrants charging kidnaping, was identified by the mother as Ralph Frisco, 41, of Portland, Me., with whom she quarreled recently.

Lt. Philip Gallo, who is investigating the case with Inspector Michael J. Foley, said he had been promised FBI co-operation and that State Police also had joined in the search as a result of the state-wide alarm broadcast for the man and two children.

Mrs. Bourne, who moved to Revere a few days ago from Union Park st., South End, reported to police she was confronted by Frisco near her home and that he seized the children, Angela, 3, and Donna, 1, and threatened her.

As she ran for help, she said, he climbed into a taxicab with the children and sped away. The driver, found later by police, said he had driven the three to North Station and then to the Union Park st. address, where he was dismissed.

Efforts to determine whether Frisco had returned to Portland have not been successful, Lt. Gallo said.

Mrs. Bourne has been living apart from her husband since June.

Wallace Scored For Unfair Prices

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (INS)—Sen. Wilson (R.) of Iowa today accused Commerce Secretary Wallace of discriminating against independent retailers in favor of chain stores and mail-order houses in the pricing of surplus war property.

Wilson listed items he said were "typical" of the differentials:

"Folding chairs, $1.50 to chain stores and mail order houses; $1.70 to independent stores.

"Navy raincoats, $8.55 to chain stores and mail order houses; $9.12 to independents.

"Radio batteries, 88 cents to chain stores and mail order houses; $1.05 to independents.

4 Held in So. End Taxi Bandit Series

Four South Boston men snared in the police search for gunmen who have victimized taxicab drivers in the South End today denied any part in the series of armed robberies, beatings and kidnapings, and were held for further questioning.

Two gave drunkenness as support for their alibi that they were not involved in the kidnaping of Nathan Lightman, 35, of Baird st., Dorchester, taxicab driver who was robbed of $12.

Lightman identified them as the pair who commandeered his cab

'No Pants' Cost Heiress' Love

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—Mrs. Bessie Morgan Belmont Timmerman, a descendant of Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry and heiress daughter of the late millionaire financier, August Belmont, Jr., solemnly swears she caught her husband with his pants down.

Emphasizing this was not merely a figure of speech, she had filed suit for divorce against Louis Felix Timmerman, who has gone to law himself and asked for a separation, vowing she wouldn't let him play the phonograph in his own Park ave. home.

The brunette heiress asserts Louis Felix's sartorial slip occurred Feb. 28 at Hotel Madison and is now a matter of pictorial record, for she has photographs of him trying to pull up his shorts after she and her private investigators raided his hotel suite.

The reason he went into such a flurry to become presentable, she adds, is that he had just leaped from one of twin beds on which reclined a girl who could have played Lady Godiva without removing a thing, had she a horse, of course.

In her complaint the Belmont heiress related:

"My investigators and other witnesses and I went to the suite occupied by my husband. Just as the bedroom door was being opened my husband and Annette de Duville hurriedly sprang up from one of the twin beds in the room.

"My husband hurriedly pulled up his shorts. The woman with him was unclad."

One of her investigators, a fellow who had been thoughtful enough to bring along a camera,

"took photo flashes of the woman" and also of Louis Felix struggling to get those shorts up, she added.

All this is denied firmly by Louis Felix, who not only protests he was not caught with his pants down, but charges she locked him out of her bedroom at their Southampton estate.

"I was denied my prerogatives as a husband," he objects.

His socialite wife had a mean temper, he declares in his complaint, and would issue a stop order to him every time he reached for a phonograph record.

Many a time and oft, he adds, he was obliged to eat his victuals in the living room and the best he could forage sometimes was a bit of cake and a glass of milk.

Not only that, says Louis Felix, but she was not above tossing down a few quick ones on occasion. He says:

"She indulged in spirituous drinks which inflamed her temper and in several instances caused her fury to reach a point where she attacked me."

When she was in that sort of mood, he adds, she would go into an awe-inspiring windup and curve household objects around his neck, causing him to dodge hither and thither lest she hit him square on the noggin.

In fact, she scored once with a heavy goblet, he says.

His wife says the photographs allegedly showing Louis Felix wrestling with his shorts will be introduced as exhibits when the divorce case is heard, as will be photographs of the Godiva girl.

What the Belmont heiress wore herself when they were married in 1931 was a modified medieval gown of cream-colored satin, with a semi-fitting bodice and round neck, the sleeves being long and close as befitted the mode in those days.

GI's Return Fails To Rally Mother

Despite several visits of her soldier son, Cpl. George Rauseo, who made a 10,000-mile plane trip from China to be at her bedside, Mrs. Marion Rauseo of Malden st., Malden, was still in critical condition today in Malden Hospital.

Expressing hope that his return would help his mother to regain her health, the 22-year-old Air Corps veteran said: "With all the prayers being said for her recovery, I feel she will pull through."

Doctors have given up hope for her recovery from injuries suffered in an auto accident.

Missing on Swim In Frisco, Girl Found in Mexico

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28 (AP)—L. G. Chrysler, midwestern college official, flew toward Mexico City today to meet his missing daughter who "thoughtlessly" abandoned her clothing on a Golden Gate swimming beach and vanished Sept. 18.

"I believe she did it thoughtlessly and realizes now how the rest of us feel about it," said the mother of Jeanette Chrysler Curley, 20, wife of Ens. Robert G. Curley.

Curley, aboard the battleship Missouri when Japan surrendered, still is in the Pacific.

The Chryslers came West from Iowa, where he is vice-president of Cornell College, on word that the girl was missing.

A telegram from Mexico City, signed by Jeanette herself, to the father later said:

"Sorry I had to do it this way. Just had to get away for a while and be by myself. Don't worry. You'll hear from me soon."

Comb Hospitals For Baby Clue

WORCESTER, Sept. 28—Failing to find any clue to the identity of "Little Blue Eyes," the baby boy found abandoned in a Washington st. doorway, in records of Worcester hospitals, police prepared today to extend their investigation to hospitals in Boston and other sections of the state.

Footprints of the child were taken for comparison with those on file in various hospitals.

The baby, meanwhile, is reported thriving at City Hospital here, where Night Supervisor Anita Lalone said the child was healthy and showed few signs of neglect.

Injured Boy Enjoys Birthday

Robert Depner of Jay st., West Somerville, didn't eat all the ice cream and cake he wanted on his fifth birthday, but he wants folks to know that he had a grand time just the same.

Since he swallowed a mixture of lye and acid two years ago, Robert has difficulty eating solid foods because his esophagus is contracted. However, treatments at Massachusetts General Hospital help immeasurably.

Of course, he had to look on longingly while his 15 party guests ate their cake and ice cream. But he says he did all right, too, even though confined to nibbling.

Robert's main chagrin was that his daddy, a soldier stationed at Ft. Warren, Wyo., couldn't attend the festivities.

Truman Warns Argentine Chiefs

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Truman administration officially told the Argentine government today the state of siege and other measures taken by this country's military regime inevitably would have "a deplorable effect" on public opinion in the United States.

Full censorship was applied to Buenos Aires newspapers today by the military government which had taken into custody the Argentine's most distinguished editors.

Bopped Her for a Pint—Divorce

When she took a wifely stand and refused at night to give her 300-pound husband a pint of spirits she was saving to ease his hangover next morning, he bopped her with left and right hooks that gave her two black eyes, Mrs. Amy Bolton Adshade of Cumberland st., Back Bay, testified in probate court today.

Judge John V. Mahoney gave her a divorce from William Adshade on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment.

Mrs. Adshade said her hefty husband and she had attended a birthday party of a neighbor and he had imbibed so enthusiastically the hostess predicted privately he would awaken with a palpitating head. The hostess slipped a curative pint into Mrs. Adshade's hands but Adshade's eyesight had not dimmed. He demanded his medicine the minute they reached home, and the eye-blackening followed, she said.

Mrs. Evelyn Chiminello of Regent st., Roxbury, won a divorce from Emilio F. Chiminello for cruel and abusive treatment.

Mrs. Dorothy Hickey of Alexander st., Dorchester was awarded a divorce from S 2c Joseph Hickey because his first wife's divorce had not become final at the time of the second marriage.

Tobin Urged to Name Qualified Judge

Appointment of a judge for Boston Juvenile Court must "not be a political reward but a call to public service," declared Pres. Cornelius P. Trowbridge of the United Prison Ass'n of Massachusetts today.

He urged Gov. Tobin to "think of the children first and last, and of political and personal gratitude not at all" in making the appointment. He said the post calls for "on recognized as a friend of childhood, who, by training, intelligence and reputation has demonstrated the necessary qualifications."

N. E. Outlook Not as Dismal As Painted, Says Jackson

The outlook for New England is not "quite so fearsome as might be inferred from some recent dismal prophecies by its well-wishers," declared William K. Jackson, president of the Boston Chamber of Commerce, today. Addressing the first postwar meeting in Hotel Statler of the New England Shippers Advisory Board, he said the section has "certain outstanding advantages as the nation enters a period of the most intensive economic competition in our history."

He cited as advantages New England's proximity to "the world's largest and richest producing and marketing areas, the northern and eastern sections of the United States"; accessibility to European and Latin American ports; unrivaled educational institutions; and excellent business executives.

"Our educators and business managers, working together for New England's economic welfare, can represent an enviable combination," he declared. Jackson urged business to devote more attention to product, market and method research to develop "higher quality of management skill than other sections."

He said New England could no longer claim a semi-monopoly of skill "but it is my belief that a large number of our labor leaders and business managers are imbued with a high sense of responsibility, reason and intelligence, resulting in the lowest number of disastrous strikes of any large industrial area."

Bemedalled GI Gets Hairdo on Stopover

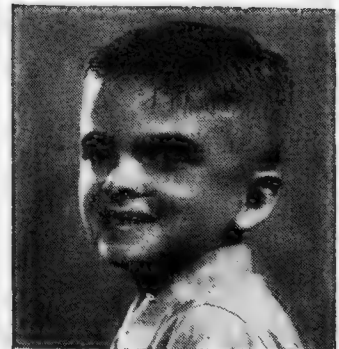

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28 (AP)—A battle-hardened overseas veteran, S Sgt. Charles Kling of Pasadena, Cal., stopped off at Pittsburgh for one of the strangest things—a permanent wave.

That is, it seemed strange until Kling, with his hair all tied up in curlies, explained today he's getting ready to return to his peacetime job as a professional dancer. He wore the Silver Star, Bronze Star and Purple Heart with two clusters for wounds received in Europe.

OPA Asks Views On Curb Lifting

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—OPA Administrator Chester Bowles is polling businessmen for their views on when various price controls should be scrapped.

In letters to 7500 members of OPA industry advisory committees, Bowles is asking that they state whether price ceilings covering their individual fields should be lifted now, at one of various dates between now and July 1, or some time later.

The question is put this way: When do you think the relation of supply and demand in your line of business will be such that price controls can be safely removed without causing temporary price inflation and subsequent deflation?

Boston Bakeries Face Picketing

NEWARK, N. J., Sept. 28 (INS)—Rationing of bread was tightened today in northern New Jersey as four more big bakeries were closed by strikes and pickets turned back loaded bakery trucks from New York.

Sec. Fred Westphal of Local 194, Bakery Drivers' and Salesmen's Union, AFL, predicted smaller communities would be entirely out of bread by today. He said the union is prepared to picket bakeries in Baltimore, Boston and Philadelphia if they persist in sending bread to the affected area.

Women's Corps Cites W. R. Hearst

By STANLEY PIEZA

Special to the Boston Evening American

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—The achievements of the women of America surpassed everything else in the history of national service in this war, John R. Hearst said at a great patriotic celebration of women here.

He received a testimonial for his father, William Randolph Hearst, from the Women's Defense Corps of America at colorful ceremonies in the Sherman hotel.

Army, Navy and government officials, distinguished guests, overseas veterans and service-women packed the room where Com. Nelle Bosworth of WDCA presented an engrossed citation of a resolution honoring Publisher Hearst for his patriotic contributions and his assistance.

Presenting the framed citation to young Mr. Hearst, Com. Bosworth said:

"We are honoring one of our nation's greatest Americans—William Randolph Hearst."

Thanking Com. Bosworth and the members of WDCA, the publisher's son said:

"In accepting for my father this splendid tribute from your organization, my sincerest wish is that he could have been here in person. All his life, through all his activities, a deep desire to be of service to his country has prevailed."

"He has set the pattern of patriotism which his papers have enthusiastically followed and will continue to follow."

Pointing out the tasks that lie ahead in the postwar reconstruction, he stated:

"The women of America surpassed everything in the history of national service during the war just ended. Now before them lies an equally noble and difficult task of bringing everyday life back to a healthy and sane level."

"Their role can and will be a big one, and in it, leading the vanguard of all women's organizations, I know, will be the gallant ladies of the Women's Defense Corps of America."

Dr. Preston Bradley, pastor of Peoples Church of Chicago, who gave the invocation, also spoke after the presentation ceremony. He reminded that had America listened to the warnings of William Randolph Hearst against the Japanese, America would have been better prepared when the Jap attack came. Said Dr. Bradley:

"The real crisis of American democracy is ahead and not behind us. We must reconstruct ourselves to the historic principles of an American society. There can be no hesitancy in this."

"Mr. Hearst has seen that truth clearly for a long time. The American people were warned by the editorial policies of this great chain of newspapers throughout the continent on the designs of Japan for the past 50 years. We did not listen to this voice."

Sea-Going Teeth

HONGKONG, Sept. 28 (AP)

—In the litter of shattered crockery, dishes and brandy bottles that bedecked the wardroom of the Australian minesweeper Strahan after the ship hit a mine, a seaman found a set of false teeth.

He asked several shipmates if they owned the teeth, then discovered they were his own, lost in the confusion of the blast.

Iceland Glacier Is Spewing Flame

Mitchell Studies Jap Sneak Attack

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—Congressional investigators today began wading through hundreds of thousands of words of testimony in search of unanswered questions about Pearl Harbor.

Chairman Barkley (D) Kentucky, of a joint inquiry committee said Army, Navy and Roberts commission reports were being studied by William D. Mitchell, counsel.

It is the unanswered, or partly answered questions about the Jap attack that will get most attention, Barkley told reporters.

"There are no bars up," he declared. "We are going into this thing fully."

Boston Warned Debt Will Curb Building

Asserting that Boston's budget still was unbalanced and the city was carrying a deficit, the Municipal Research Bureau warned today that the situation threatened to hamper a recently announced $20,000,000 postwar construction program.

"There is no magic by which the city can finance large postwar public works within its existing tax resources," the bureau's report declared. "If work has to be provided, federal and state government will necessarily carry the major burden."

The report pointed out that the city since 1933 had borrowed each year to finance a part of relief expenditures, with the depression years furnishing the excuse for such loans.

"The city's inability to eliminate this type of borrowing under favorable conditions of today raises the issue of where it will find itself in the years ahead," the report continued. "The mayor's recent request for a $700,000 loan order indicates the budget shortage is near at hand and shows Boston's current expenses are not all included in the $42.50 tax rate."

"At times official policy has worked against improving the city's long term position. For example, last year Boston would have pared its deficit by $1,000,000 if departmental income had not been over-estimated in computing the tax rate."

Find Missing Angler at Sea

HAVERHILL, Sept. 29 (AP)—T. Edward Ryan, 42, Haverhill manufacturer, drowned accidentally at sea, it was reported today by his companion on a fishing trip, Lester H. Gauvin, 38, who was found last night in their disabled boat after a Coast Guard search that began Tuesday night. Fishermen sighted the 20-foot power launch drifting shoreward on the tide off York Beach, Me. Gauvin, exhausted, had been drifting for more than two days without food or water.

Mrs. Gauvin reported today that her husband, recovering in a hospital, related that in endeavoring to start the stalled engine, off Plum Island, Ryan fell overboard and never rose to the surface again.

Driven by a stiff wind, the boat quickly drifted away from the scene, Gauvin related, and unable to start the engine and without supplies, he drifted helpless until last night.

have vanished and only a heart-ache would remain.

M-Sgt. Robert Dudley, the foster father, was flying home from the Philippines. He had hoped to reach here in time to testify of his own love for the boy, Judge Louis Cappelli, when court opened this morning, offered Mrs. Dudley a second continuance in order that her soldier husband might be with her.

The foster mother, who has not heard from her husband since he sent her a message Sunday that he had obtained travel priorities and was leaving, told the court the case might as well be settled today.

After opposing counsel had argued the case of natural motherhood against foster motherhood, Judge Cappelli said:

"When Mrs. Leach filed the adoption papers she did so upon the advice of her husband and her father. They may have advised her to save their own names. They advised her to go to an out-of-town hospital to bear her baby.

"She could not have been considered normal at such a time. I can't believe her action was the action of a normal woman. My sympathies are with Mrs. Dudley. I know how she must feel. But I am interested in the child's welfare more than anything else.

"Both of these women are capable of being good mothers, but there has been no evidence to prove the natural mother is unable to take care of her child. Her petition is granted."

Counsel for Mrs. Dudley had argued that Mrs. Leach had evaded her responsibility to the baby by giving him away without even seeing him at the hospital while she was recovering.

It was pointed out that Mrs. Dudley had given up her job to devote all of her time to the baby she grew to love.

"She was the one who cared for him," her attorney declared. "She has cared for him faithfully and devotedly."

Counsel for Mrs. Leach stressed the baby was "her own flesh and blood," and added:

"If she were not to have her baby restored to her she would have a heartache for the rest of her life. It is the natural law of God that a mother has the right to her baby."

Thus little John will lose the only mother he has known in his first 11 months on earth and the mother who bore him, then gave him away, will know the joys of the motherhood she had renounced at his birth.

Mounting the grand stairway at the formal dedicatory services for the military cemetery at Monte Cassino, Italy, high ranking Allied officers consecrate the ground where thousands of American lives were lost. On top of the hill is the monastery in which Germans held out for many months in their bloodiest resistance of the Italian campaign. Crosses in foreground mark the graves of a few of those who fell.

GET BUSY!

THERE WILL be a decided change in the location of many textile plants in the postwar period," says a New York Times writer.

Commenting on a survey made recently by the National Paper Box Manufacturers' Association, the writer predicts:

"The trend will continue away from the New England and Middle Atlantic areas toward the South, with preference shown for North Carolina, Tennessee, Kentucky and Texas."

This is what Joseph P. Kennedy has been advising us for months to prevent.

Perhaps, now, some of those who have been criticizing Mr. Kennedy for looking facts squarely in the face will wake up.

We can keep all our mills and factories if we want to.

We can provide employment and a fuller life for our young people if we have the gumption to do so.

Let State, county and municipal governments stop preying on industry and begin to encourage it.

Let business leaders eschew stagnating conservatism and display some of the intelligence and enterprise that distinguished their fathers and grandfathers.

The matchless geographical location and all the other advantages which contributed to the growth of the State and section are still here.

Let us make use of them!

GOOD EXAMPLE

DISABLED veterans, many of them crippled and bedridden, are studying for delayed high school diplomas through a program developed at the Army's Billings General Hospital in Indianapolis.

Later on these men will take college courses and thus equip themselves for useful places in business, industry and the various professions.

There should be similar instruction in all service men's hospitals.

Too few soldiers are enjoying the benefits of the generous educational provisions of the G. I. Bill of Rights.

Never before in all world history was it easier for a man returning from the battlefields to prepare for a position of leadership in civilian life.

As a matter of fact, education is too generally neglected all over the United States.

We have excellent grammar and high schools.

We have splendid colleges and universities, many of them maintained wholly or partially by the taxpayers.

Any person can become a scholar of extraordinary attainments if he is willing to expend on the acquisition of knowledge one-third of the time and energy he usually wastes on fun and play.

College presidents and other educators should come out of their stuffy cubbyholes and really try to sell education to the American people.

DO YOU LOOK a lot like anybody? If so, here's hoping your double behaves himself. And listen, don't run wild and get your double in trouble because mistaken identity. One New Yorker went to jail for three years because he was mistaken for another man. Another was arrested because a woman said he was her husband and owed her alimony. Turned out he just looked like her husband. In Kansas City a citizen was shot and killed because of his resemblance to a man the killer was gunning for. A fellow who looked like me once caused me a lot of trouble. But I won't inflict the details on you at this time.

PIN-UPS: The Broadway and Hollywood cuties lost out as pin-up girls in World War II. At first the fighting men went for the pin-up pictures with which press agents flooded the fighting fronts. But the boys soon took these photographs down from the favored spot and put up pictures of their sweethearts, wives and children. In the last year of the war the most popular contests were the photograph competitions to decide which fellow in the outfit had the most beautiful sweetheart or wife. There were also terrific contests to decide which of the papas had the most beautiful baby.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS:

Q Do you remember "Pop" Daly of racing fame? A—Don't you mean "Father Bill" Daly? His instructions to his jockey were always as follows: "Listen, lad, take this animal out in front at the start and stay there. If you die, die in front!" Hence the saying referring to a horse that goes out in front at the start: "He's off on a Bill Daly!" ... Q—My husband and I have been arguing as to what year Sylvia Sidney played in the film "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." A—It was around 1936 Sylvia appeared in that. I always associate Charlotte Walker with that piece. She played it on the stage in 1912 and in a silent film version in 1915. ... Q—How old a song is "If I Had My Way"? A—If it isn't over 30 years old I am stuck for another stogie.

MUSIC: What is the greatest piece of music ever written? Well, you have your opinion and Mayor LaGuardia has his. The Little Flower recently stated: "Beethoven's Ninth Symphony is about the greatest piece ever written. It is a sort of spiritual and magical compound. A sedative, a vitamin, a tonic and a stimulant. As the opening bars start you relax. As it unfolds you reach out and hold your wife's hand."

HORSES & WOMEN: Some men help their wives buy hats. About one in five million I think. However, I never heard of a man helping his wife buy shoes. That might be a very good idea. Everything indicates the average wife is not to be trusted alone when buying footwear. A mad desire to have her feet look smaller causes her to buy tight shoes. Tight shoes make females irritable. This causes domestic arguments and that often leads to divorce. The danger in the situation is plainly evident. Even though present at the sale it might take a husband of very strong character to dissuade his wife from purchasing shoes that made her feet look smaller. How about you, sir? Are you man enough to stop your wife from buying tight fitting shoes?

ASIDES: That knot of hair on top of the dome style makes a female look like Louise Fazenda in an old Mack Sennett comedy ... Mrs. C. Von Eggest of Los Angeles, a spry little lady of 92 years of age, weighing 86 pounds, has 27 living great-grandchildren and 11 living great-great-grandchildren. Let Brooklyn try to top that!

PLEASE NOTE: An extremely successful painting and decorating contractor catering to the residents of the exclusive sections of midtown Manhattan never hires a man under 50 years of age. He says the older men do a thorough job while the younger men are inclined to finish a job as soon as possible with no thought of thoroughness. As a matter of fact, some of the young fellows call the elderly workers "old fashioned" because they are so conscientious.

"Sir, can I keep this one which was left over from the war, to make into a cigaret-lighter?"

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Copyright, 1945, by King Features Synd., Inc.)
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—The verbatim testimony and statements taken by the Treasury in the case of Elliott Roosevelt's $200,000 loan from John Hartford, the A. and P. grocery chain, are widely discussed.

John Hartford, telling of happenings after Hall Roosevelt, Elliott's uncle, had "found" him for Elliott, told agents that the President previously had disapproved a plan to hire Mrs. Roosevelt as a commercial broadcaster for the A. and P. Therefore, he said, he thought he might escape the $200,000 loan if he suggested that it might embarrass the President.

However, he found that Mr. Roosevelt was not one who embarrassed easily. Elliott called at Hartford's apartment in the Plaza Hotel in New York and, for reply to Hartford's misgivings, picked up the phone and called his father at the Little White House in Warm Springs, Ga.

"ELLIOTT SAID, 'Hello, Dad,'" Mr. Hartford said in his general statement, "and informed his father that he was in John Hartford's apartment and said: 'Here's Mr. Hartford' and handed the receiver to me. I inquired of the President whether he was familiar with the matter of the proposed loan requested by his son, Elliott, and the President replied that he knew all about it and gave assurance that he knew it was a sound business proposition and a fine thing, and that he appreciated any assistance and consideration that I could give to Elliott in this matter and extended to me an invitation to call at the White House."

Under investigation on July 9, Mr. Hartford said Caruthers Ewing, his attorney, who had received the first approach from the late William Sirovich, a New York New Deal Congressman, gave him to understand that he and his brother, George Hartford, also of A. and P., and also a millionaire, "had been earmarked for this loan."

Q—By whom?
A—"Washington."
Q—What you mean the President?
A—"That is right. It was a very definite idea."

At another point, Mr. Hartford said: "I wanted to get out of making the loan if I could."

AGAIN DISCUSSING the telephone call to Warm Springs, Hartford said that when the phone was handed to him "I said 'Hello, Mr. President,' and I heard a familiar voice—a voice that I had heard over the radio many times—say 'Hello, John.' He said he would appreciate anything I could do for him. (Elliott)."

"I then told Elliott I was going to make him the loan, and that the only reason I was making the loan was that his father practically asked me to. I further told Elliott I was not interested in radio and was not asking any favors."

Q—In other words, having spoken to the President you felt that you had received all the credit information you needed?

A—"I thought it was better than Dun and Bradstreet."

Q—"After the President was so enthusiastic about it," Mr. Hartford testified, "I felt I was on the spot. I had to make a decision right then and there and I did not want to do anything to incur the enmity of the President. I could have asked the President to endorse the note. I did not do so and would not do so."

Hartford then was asked whether he felt that the President's remarks were a sort of moral guaranty and he replied, "I certainly did."

Q—"What reason did you have for expecting that the loan would be repaid?"

A—"P. D. R."

HARTFORD was asked why, when he went to see Jesse Jones, then Secretary of Commerce and chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, at Jones' suggestion, he expected that he was going to get back his $200,000 with interest.

"I thought the President would pay his son's debts just as any father would," Hartford answered.

At the time of the settlement, Sid Richardson and Charles Roeser, Ft. Worth oil men, wrote their opinion that the stock of Elliott's Texas State network, which Hartford had taken as collateral, was worthless.

The stock is now worth more than $100 a share. Hartford's 2000 shares, bought back for $4000 of Jones' money, by President Roosevelt's suggestion, now are worth more than $200,000 at that rate. These shares were transmitted by the President himself to Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt with a personal letter. Hartford said Elliott's original promise to put up 2500 shares was never kept. All he got was 2000 shares.

Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28—1 can remember George Raft turning down plenty of big parts because he just wouldn't play gangsters. Now he is definitely on the side of law and order and will make his second detective thriller at RKO as a Los Angeles Cop in "Nocturne." All the boys are playing cops these days. Dick Powell was practically dying on the vine until he put over a smart-cracking police detective.

"Nocturne" is laid right in our own Los Angeles, too. This town is a favorite spot for murder mysteries since "Murder, My Sweet," and "Double Indemnity" received so much favorable comment. George will forget his many romances along about the end of December to start "Nocturne." His first detective opera at RKO was "Johnny Angel."

Kathryn Grayson

THE BETTING is 65 to one on the M-G-M lot that Kathryn Grayson and John Shelton will kiss and make up again. They're both terribly in love and after seven matrimonial splits, well, no one can take their parting too seriously. One of her close friends tells me she is sure that once they get over their pouting they'll forget their last big fight. Meanwhile, Kathryn's screen career moves smoothly. Her next picture is "Jumbo", the Billy Rose musical with Frank Sinatra, which Arthur Freed will produce. After "Anchors Aweigh" it seems right they should be together and Arthur has Rodgers and Hart writing the music, so this ought to be a goodie.

I WAS JUST sure the public wouldn't stand for anyone but Dorothy McGuire playing "Claudia." She is so associated with the role that it would be high treason in the minds of most of the followers of the Rose-Franklin heroine to have another actress. Twentieth Century-Fox was so bombarded with letters that they made haste to get Dorothy. The new Claudia and David picture is a combination of four stories which Producer William Perlberg selected. He would like to get Robert Young, who was "David" in the first picture. The public would like it, too. But we'll have to wait and see if it is possible to borrow Bob.

WHEN I WAS at the Hearst ranch last week I saw a P. R. C. picture in color called "The Enchanted Forest." It is a simple little story about an old man—a hermit, who finds music in the winds, in the trees and in the animals. The men who cut down trees are his enemies, but the thing that appealed to me was the way these animals—the fox, the mountain lion and the dog—were trained. It is the sort of picture that is so wonderful for children, and after seeing it I made up my mind I wanted to see more P. R. C. pictures.

CHATTERING HOLLYWOOD: Jean Negulesco makes no secret that he would like to marry Dusty Anderson immediately, but her divorce from Capt. Charles Mathieu won't be final until June. Dusty has written the captain in Chicago, sent papers and asked him to sign a release so she can go to Las Vegas and get her freedom. But so far he hasn't answered any of her letters. Dusty believes maybe he hasn't received them, but she is hoping that he will make it possible for her to get a Nevada divorce without delay.

BORIS MORROS has signed Theodora Lynch and John Garin—Metropolitan opera tenor—in the fond hope that he may have a Jeanette MacDonald-Nelson Eddy team. The duo will duet in either "Carnegie Hall" or "The Life of Beethoven." In private life Theodora is Mrs. Paul Geisinger, the dark, slim socialite surprised all her friends by making her professional bow as a torch singer and then moving on to concerts. She was interned in Italy's horrible Siena prison in 1941 and arrived back on the first exchange ship from Italy last June—a mere shadow of herself and half starved. But a three months' rest has returned her to the glamor brackets.

Boston After Dark

MONTE PROSER gave Tom Magen, the Boston restaurateur and cafe man, permission to use the name of the Copacabana, the Proser night club in New York. Mr. Magen told friends at luncheon Thursday... The Proser-

Magen combination proved successful several years ago in Boston when the Bostonian operated The Beachcomber here... Mr. Proser was the originator of the New York Beachcomber, from which the Boston spot was modeled... An offshoot of the Boston operation was a joint venture in Providence with Mr. Magen and Ruby Foo, owner of Ruby Foo's Den, as co-operators... The Beachcomber is still running in Providence, but under new management... The Beachcomber on Boylston St., Boston, has been supplied by Mr. Magen's successful Shangri-La... Mr. Proser is in town in advance of the opening of "Spring in Brazil," of which he is co-producer.

RUBY FOO AND SUEHIE TUCKER played a game of gin rummy at Ruby's Den for $50... The winner was to donate the profits to Sophie's pit charity, a juvenile organization in New York City... Ruby lost... The Den is again the late spot frequented by visiting stars... Miss Foo's accomplishments as a hostess are responsible. (And the excellent Chinese food, of course)

CALIFORNIA has made two startling moves in sports... The boxing commission of that enterprising state has taken the first action of its kind in history by dealing out enough evidence against the fixers of a boxing match to send the fixers to the jailhouse—one of them for a year's sentence... At Santa Anita, a drastic improvement in the policing of horse races has been instituted... The management has assigned 12 watchers to the roof of the grandstand.

EACH WATCHER is given one horse (and jockey) to follow... As the watchers peer through their glasses, they follow the progress of the nags (and their riders) from the minute they arrive on the track until they are unsaddled (or weighed out on the scales)... The added touch to these proceedings is this, however... As the watchmen follow their particular charges around the racetrack, each of them dictates to a record, telling exactly what is happening, as the observer sees it, at all times.

JIMMY JONES, the ace race-course cameraman, incidentally, tells us that experiments in New York have proved that an entire race can be covered by cameras stationed at the far-long poles... Six cameras are WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—Theodore Roosevelt once denounced the use of "weasel words," meaning words that were vague, twaddly or utterly devoid of meaning. Well, I will bet that no self-respecting weasel, even one that expected to go "Pop!" any minute, would admit responsibility for present day usage of the word "Liberal."

Without much question, "Liberal" is rapidly becoming the most meaningless word in the American language. Give it a few more years and it will become about as intelligible as "Solid Jackson!" or "Hey, Hey, Bate!"

I know guys proclaiming themselves Liberals who are about as liberal as Harold Ickes during National Thrift Week. And others—yelping to the skies, or anyway the ceilings of night clubs, about their liberal views—who would gladly pronounce the death sentence on anyone even mildly disagreeing with them.

When I was a kid in Canada the word had a fairly definite meaning. A Liberal was a bloke who belonged to the Liberal party, although the chances were he was more conservative than a conservative. In fact, I knew a Liberal who broke away from his church because it held that sinners should burn through all eternity and he contended that was not long enough.

NOWADAYS it has become a disguise, or cover-up, word. Rascals who wish to hide the fact that they are Communists, or worse, call themselves Liberals. These who want to destroy the American form of government go around ranting they are Liberals. Every type of human scum seems to have assumed the name for camouflage purposes.

The dictionary gives quite a few definitions for "Liberal."

"Belittling, or worthy of, a man of free birth; not servile; bestowing in a large and noble way; generous; openhanded." It also gives a couple of others, which may well become the accepted definitions of tomorrow:

"Free from restraint; uncontrolled; unchecked, hence regardless of moral restraints; licentious (Shakespeare); 'most like a liberal villain.'"

Maybe the dictionary is just ahead of itself. The word is being misused so badly these days that I have begun to distrust any man who calls himself a Liberal. I know many men who used to call themselves Liberals—and really are—who will no longer employ the term for fear they will be confused with riff-raff.

"LIBERAL" hasn't much in common nowadays with that immortal line by Sir Richard Steele, back in the 17th Century:

"To love her was a liberal education."

RACK IN the summer of 1941 I wrote a piece about the merits of taking a vacation without the little woman. It was not what you might call favorably received by little women generally, including mine.

The piece was predicated largely on an experience suffered by Mr. Bill Mason, the big General Tire & Rubber Company man of Akron, O. In a week moment Mr. Mason consented to take his helpmeet, Vera, on a jaunt to Mexico.

One afternoon he had some folks in for cocktails, among them our Ambassador to Mexico, George S. Messersmith. Mr. Mason, who is a business man at all times, urged his missus to be particularly nice to the envoy plenipotentiary.

He was gratified to see that Vera was carrying out his instructions nobly. But, as the Ambassador rose to depart, Mr. Mason went cold with horror, because the little woman—positively exuding charm—cooed:

"By the way—I didn't catch the name!"

MR. MASON recalled this episode in a letter the other day, adding:

"I returned from Waco yesterday to discover that the charming help-meet had put me in the grease again."

"You may recall the late Sen. Charles Dick of Ohio. He was Akron's No. 1 pride, having been campaign manager for President McKinley. In his whole hours he picked up many antiques, which were placed on sale recently."

"As you know, Vera is a great one for nicknacks. She highlighted it to the auction where she was greeted graciously ly by Sen. Dick's daughter.

By George Dixon

"On the wall was a life-sized portrait. Vera, trying to spend a little oil in the hope of obtaining better bargains, gaped at it."

"Isn't that a splendid portrait of your father!"

"The lady gave Vera a cold look and snarled that they will be President McKinley!"

"WELL, NOTHING daunts Vera. So to make matters worse she said:

"Why he looks just like you—same nose, same mouth, everything..." Whereupon her friends fled in confusion.

"The fact that Vera had to spend $8 apiece for a dozen silver ashtrays, could have bought anywhere for 50 cents will give you a rough idea why I am still recommending her for the diplomatic service."

"I demand an annulment, Judge! My wife deceived me... I never knew till today that she's an ex-Martine sergeant!"

ALL AROUND TOWN: The recurrent revivals of her foreign-made film "Ecstasy" have made Hedy Lamarr so sensitive that she knows the very word to the point where she personally deleted a line of dialogue in "Her Highness and the Bellboy" which originally had her telling Robert Walker the bellboy: "You've taught me that even royalty can't command ecstasy"... One of the major reasons for the presence in this country of Yvonne Vallee, the former Mrs. Maurice Chevalier, is to complete negotiations with Mary Pickford for an executive berth in the foreign offices of America's Sweetheart film enterprises... The Hilda Ferguson-Pat DeCocco duet is just for laughs, they say—and it does look jolly... One of the nation's foremost songwriters amuses himself by dropping water "bombs" on pedestrians in the West Forties during lunch hour.

No Fire, but Wine Sends Her to Jail

You can't mend a broken bottle of wine by pulling a fire alarm box.

This hitherto unquestioned fact was challenged last night by Mrs. Helen Granville, 54, of Salem, indignant Lynn police testified today in district court.

They told Judge Reeve she conducted her research by sounding an alarm of fire from historic Box 41, Munroe and Washington sts., the very box from which the alarm was sounded for the 1889 fire that leveled most of the city.

When police and firemen arrived, according to Dist. Fire Chief Henry Haddock, there was no fire except in Mrs. Granville's eyes. When he asked her why she had pulled the alarm, he added, she said:

"Someone broke my bottle of wine in yonder cafe. I thought you could make them pay for it. I wanted action."

She was sentenced to the women's reformatory, for intoxication. She said she didn't remember a thing about the fire alarm. That charge was filed.

John E. MacKenzie, 39-year-old ex-convict, in 1944 occupied the Windsor rd., Medford, apartment of the man accused of slaying him, witnesses testified today at the murder trial of Samuel J. Gallarelli, 24, in Middlesex Superior Court.

Mrs. Ann C. Carbone of Bow st., Medford, said she was living on the second floor with her parents at that time. Telling of the night of Jan. 11 when MacKenzie was found shot to death in the Gallarelli kitchen, she testified she heard loud voices just before four shots were fired.

John Cefalo, 17-year-old Medford High School student, brother of Mrs. Carbone, testified he thought he recognized Gallarelli's voice during the argument before the shooting.

Mrs. Blanche Marcel of College ave., Somerville, pointed to Gallarelli as the careless and careless man who boarded a bus at Boston ave. and College ave., Medford, shortly after 11:30 p. m. Jan. 17.

THE UNIVERSAL 'JEEP'

NOW it's a truck...
NOW it's a tractor...
NOW it's a runabout...
NOW it's a mobile power unit

Today the world has a revolutionary kind of motive power...unknown in the past... unlimited in its future possibilities for the service of mankind.

It is the Universal "Jeep" from Willys-Overland.

The military "Jeep," designed for the tasks of war, has helped write history on every continent, in every climate of the globe. Its rugged power and dependability were proved in billions of miles of travel, performing a thousand varied jobs.

The Universal "Jeep," designed for the uses of peace, will write a history of its own—the record of a new-day vehicle that will help people everywhere do their work easier, faster, at lower costs.

In its basic features, the Universal "Jeep" is similar to the military "Jeep." It is powered by the economical 60-h.p. Willys "Jeep" engine—world-tested. It has selective 4-wheel drive. It is as sturdy, versatile, dependable.

But in the Universal "Jeep," Willys, guided by exhaustive tests in the field, has added many new features to fit it to the needs of farmers, industry, business and individuals. A more rigid frame. New gear ratios. Steering-column gearshift lever. Larger clutch. Easier steering. More comfortable seats. 60-miles-an-hour road speed. Power take-off for direct drive or pulley is optional equipment.

The Universal "Jeep" is here, now... ready to work for you around the clock, around the year, around the world.

As Distributors in Massachusetts,
New Hampshire and Vermont

As distributors of Willys Cars, Trucks and the Universal "Jeep," we are proud to join with Willys-Overland in bringing this versatile 4-in-1 motor vehicle to the people of this section.

We invite you to come in at your earliest opportunity to see the Universal "Jeep," now on display in our showrooms. We will be glad to show you its many features and discuss its varied uses. No obligation, of course.

Production of the Universal "Jeep" is limited at present. But we know you will want to see the Universal "Jeep" now and plan how it can help you.

Willys has made the Universal "Jeep" the most versatile of motor vehicles. It is actually a four-in-one vehicle.

AS A LIGHT TRUCK, the "Jeep" will carry a half-ton load, or tow heavily loaded trailers. With 4-wheel drive, it goes through mud and snow and rough terrain. The mighty Willys "Jeep" Engine gives ample power for heavy hauls and tough grades.

AS A LIGHT TRACTOR, the "Jeep" uses 4-wheel traction to work fast and efficiently. It has been tested and proved on farms, pulling 16-inch single-bottom plows, 12-inch two-bottom plows, single and double-tandem disc harrows, seeders, ensilage harvesters, manure spreaders, etc.

AS A RUNABOUT, the "Jeep" will carry you places that would stop a conventional car. "Jeeps" are not afraid of bad roads and snow. Convenient for running errands... perfect for hunting and fishing trips... the "Jeep" will take you cross-country, good roads or bad.

AS A MOBILE POWER UNIT, the "Jeep" with power take-off does many jobs for farmers and industry. Pulley drive furnishes 30 h.p. at belt speed of 3,100 ft. a minute. The "Jeep" will furnish the power to saw wood, shell corn, dig post-holes, fill a silo, run a thresher, etc. It can run a compressor, paint sprayer, core drill, pneumatic drill, etc. It delivers the power to the job.

Solving Problem

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

DOES THE SUGAR SHORTAGE have you stumped when you try to think of satisfying desserts that are easy to make? There is a solution to this problem, you know, for there are many luscious desserts that require no sugar at all, or as little as quarter of a cup.

For example, take the numerous desserts made with gelatin; or with fruit, which adds much of its own natural sweetness; or desserts made with molasses, corn syrup, maple sugar, etc.

Here's a dessert that is easy on the sugar bowl—orange sherbet. There's no trick to its preparation, thanks to convenient canned orange juice. And the burden on the sugar is relieved by the use of corn syrup.

ORANGE SHERBET

1 tbs. unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup light corn syrup
1/2 cup boiling water
2 1/2 cups canned orange juice
8 egg whites

Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine sugar, corn syrup and boiling water; boil 2 minutes. Add gelatin; dissolve. Add orange juice. Freeze in a mush in freezing tray of automatic refrigerator with cold control set at coldest point. Beat egg whites stiff. Beat sherbet until smooth, but still frozen; fold in egg whites. Freeze firm, stirring several times. Makes about 1 quart.

For a slightly tangier sherbet, substitute the same amount of canned blended orange and grapefruit juice for canned orange juice in the recipe above.

Particularly appropriate for early fall months, when grapes are at their best, is this grape custard ring. Bottled grape juice may be used in this recipe. Or prepare grape juice by cooking Concord grapes with a small amount of water until soft; then strain.

GRAPE CUSTARD RING

1/2 tsp. salt, 2 egg yolks
1/2 cup milk, scalded
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

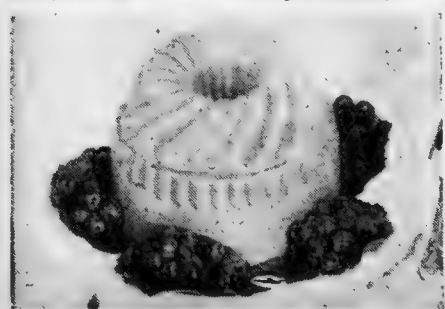

Add 1/2 tsp. salt to egg yolks and beat slightly; then add hot milk gradually, stirring constantly. Cook and stir over hot water until mixture coats spoon. Remove from fire. Fold hot custard gradually into beaten egg whites.

1 pkg. lemon-flavored gelatin
1/2 cup hot water
1/2 cup grape juice
1/2 tsp. salt

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add grape juice and 1/2 tsp. salt. Chill when slightly thickened. Place in bowl of ice and water and whip with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Then beat in custard. Turn into ring mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with clusters of Concord grapes and grape leaves. Makes 6 servings.

MOLASSES CORNSTARCH PUDDING

1 1/2 cup cornstarch
2 1/2 cups cold milk

Grape Custard Ring

Fashion

BRAID STRIPES studded with nailheads distinguish a two-piece dress that is flattering to the large as well as to the smaller figure. The slim jacket has a height-giving effect... is youthfully detailed with a bow-tie neckline and full bishop sleeves. Charming to wear now and into next spring since it is fashioned of firm-bodied Eastman koda crepe... R. M.

2 eggs, beaten

1/4 tsp. salt

1/4 cup molasses

2 tbs. butter or margarine

2 tbs. vanilla

Mix cornstarch with 1/4 cup of the cold milk. Scald remaining 2 cups milk and stir into cornstarch mixture. Cook over hot water until thick and smooth. Combine well beaten eggs, salt, and molasses. Add gradually to milk, stirring all the while. Continue cooking until thick and smooth. Remove from heat. Stir in butter or margarine. Cool slightly, then add vanilla. Pour into individual dessert glasses. Chill. Makes 6 servings.

FROZEN FOAM

20 marshmallows

1 cup hot milk

1/4 cup molasses

1 1/2 cups cream or chilled evaporated milk, whipped

Dissolve 15 marshmallows in hot milk. Freeze to mush in refrigerator. Beat in molasses. Add 5 marshmallows, cut fine, with the whipped cream. Freeze until firm. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Pamper Facial Loveliness

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE
Beauty and Fashion Editor

WE DON'T VERY often write about face powder since most women, strange as it may seem, prefer the trial and error method of selection... costly as it may be to a smooth, satiny complexion finish.

Though we have repeated at one time or another that one wonderful way to show off the beauty of your skin and make-up is to use a face powder that's rich and right for you in texture and color... we've found that Mary tries Jane's... and vice versa... and there you have it. Too often she doesn't stop to consider whether the texture is a pore-clogger or if the powder has an affinity for the skin.

Now that a face powder has been created on a new and different principle... and is the kind of beauty item the fastidious exquisites crave... we can't resist the temptation of singing its praises and telling you about it... though it may be a bit above your cosmetic budget. True it is an expensive powder... higher-bracketed than the cost of most face powders, even the commonly accepted best... but it does contain practically a year's supply for a little goes a long way.

So the initial greenback outlay does justify the investment since it can and does pamper facial loveliness... and what woman doesn't owe it to herself to go luxurious for once in her life? This newly designed face powder... hailed as a scientific achievement... contains an oil more precious than pearls, in beauty parlance. The ingredient it embodies is itself a mighty expensive item when purchased as a... beauty aid... a choice cosmetic tidbit which beautiful-complexioned women wouldn't be without once they have acquired the habit.

Because this face powder contains this velvet-skin ingredient... it has the unique quality of giving the skin a smoother finish... all the while the skin is absorbing this precious component for exquisitely texturing the complexion... benefiting the skin and allaying facial lines. The powder itself is as smooth as silk... and has a delightful floral melange fragrance.

Many powders give the face a dry, powdery look which most of us wish away hopefully. Not this new item... which comes in five facial enhancing tints.

For the name of this choice new face powder, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY You are innately kindly, friendly; heed the truth, and are honorable. Sometimes impulsive but not always demonstrative. You analyze things. Are hurt if not consulted in home, in business affairs. Helpful to those in trouble. Avoid anger, overindulging pleasure, excitement. Take care of health. Birthdate of Georges Clemenceau, famed French statesman; Walter Pidgeon, actor.

COURTESY TIP

Don't "congratulate" an engaged girl or a bride. To her offer your "best wishes." It is the engaged man or the bridegroom who is "congratulated." (Mrs. Beekman would be glad to answer question on Good Manners submitted by readers.)

IF YOU'RE SMART, sophisticated, or conservative, but well-versed in beauty requisites, you'll hail the advent of a new face powder containing a skin-softening ingredient that's practically more precious than pearls since it enhances facial loveliness while benefiting the complexion. Then, you, too, perhaps will emerge as luscious an "eyeful" as Columbia's lovely Adele Jergens.

Shop Early For Overseas

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

CHRISTMAS shopping when the thermometer is frisking around and threatening to go to a hundred seems a contradiction of terms. Yet it must be done for those of us whose beloved ones are overseas, especially in the Pacific areas.

This writer sent a fruit cake to her son in New Guinea last September. It traveled after him through Australia, the Philippines and finally a week after Easter it caught up with him and was the excuse for a party.

So don't delay mailing packages because of the thermometer. Do as Uncle Sam suggests and mail your Christmas gifts before October 15. Send gifts that are appropriate to certain theaters of war. Don't send fur mittens to North Africa or the Philippines, and don't send thin stockings and socks to the reindeer country—Alaska, Greenland, etc.

If you have a daughter or friend who is a WAC in the reindeer country, don't send white stationery. According to a press release, the WACs say: "We type on white bond paper day in and day out; so, tinted paper if you please in any shade but brown." Also, knit booties and bed socks are very acceptable for chilly climates.

You're safe in sending good reading material anywhere—pocket-sized books, pony editions and magazines. Food is always acceptable to break the monotony of Army chow. Cheese, tuna fish, jams, sandwich spreads, anchovy, nuts and home-made cookies, but NOT sausage or luncheon meat, the War Department warns. Soldiers and WACs have learned from experience that tin, containers, tightly sealed and firmly packed, are the only sure protection against the insects and elements which often ravage food-laden cartons en route.

The Army postal system has its simple but vital rules for all outward-bound packages. They must not exceed five pounds in weight for 15 inches by 36 inches in size; must be mailed between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15, and must be clearly marked with the complete and correct military address.

Whatever you send, you may be sure it will be gratefully received. And while making out your Christmas list, please don't forget those casual friends and acquaintances who have no near kinkfolk and who will be thankful beyond words to be remembered at Christmas with even a card or a little gift of hard candy.

Fur Cape Coats Newest Fashion

By BETTINA BEDWELL

FUR FASHIONS go on their untrammelled way this season, sparing no expense and making the most luxurious styles that have come along in years. There are all kinds of new tones to old, familiar furs, and there are half-forgotten luxury furs that have come back, too. Chinchilla and Russian broadtail are two revived furs with a big backing in high style quarters.

Broadtail, being a high luxury fur, the fur designers make it more so with cape coats of the precious stuff, and then they add trimmings of another high style fur like mink, sable or ermine. Such a coat is the Maximilian model in our sketch, which is made of black Russian broadtail, and it has a deep collar of mink. The coat is a fitted, full-length model with an elbow-length cape of the fur and a flaring skirt, which takes plenty of fur to make. Maximilian has made one of the most luxurious coats of the season in this model.

More Restrictions on Overseas Mail Lifted

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Postoffice Department lifted wartime restrictions on the size of mail, including parcel post, addressed to civilians overseas. Limitations on weight were not changed. These vary for different countries. The department said the change will permit mailing of parcels containing such bulky items as overcoats and blankets.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 28 (AP)—Armed Chinese troops today seize several German business firms and placed guards outside the majority of houses and flats occupied by Germans in a step reputed as preliminary to internment of all Germans in Shanghai. A spokesman for Shanghai's 28 Germans said that among the buildings taken over was the Cinar bank, which played an important part in the Japanese occupation, and I. G. Veterans' Friend

Q—My son was killed in action on Oct. 8, 1944. He was married at the time, but had no children.

His wife re-married about a year later in Alabama. I was sent a state bonus form to fill out. Am I entitled to the $100 or does wife forfeit her right by re-marrying? A. B. Wallham.

A—Both yourself and his former wife may file application for the $100. However, there is no provision in the law regarding disbursement in this particular case. The procedure followed in payment will be decided by state treasurer's office. Either portion or full payment will be awarded you as mother and also next of kin, or vice versa. Full application and mail as soon as possible. (Ed note: Will So, Boston youth, World War II veteran, who wrote seeking training as electrician, contact this office; have located firm that will give him employment).

Q—Could you tell me if Army and Navy men on retired list, but called back into active service, are entitled to apply for state bonus? C. L. C. Fargo barracks.

A—Yes, provided they served after Sept. 6, 1940.

Q—My husband is a veteran of this war. If he goes into business for himself will his pension be taken away? If so, and he does not make a success of his enterprise, will he receive pension? D. B. Ryver.

A—If awarded a pension he will still continue to receive it regardless of his entering business. If he obtains loan under GI Bill and fails in his business, any losses incurred by government through guarantee of loan will be deducted from such pensions until full amount is paid.

Q—I am a World War I vet. Was drawing 25 per cent compensation until the late President put the Economy Act into effect. Would like to know if they have started to pay again on non-service connected cases. L. M., Portland.

A—Suggest you talk case over with local Veterans Bureau officials located in Portland. In many cases payment has been resumed.

Q—Would like to get information regarding national service life insurance. My husband has been in the Navy for 21 months and upon entering service told me he had taken out $10,000 policy naming me beneficiary. I have never received notice of policy or certificate designating me beneficiary. M. S., Everett.

A—If you were named beneficiary at time husband entered service you should have received so-called certificate of insurance. Suggest you write Director of National Service Life Insurance, Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C.

Q—My husband is in the 23th Field Hospital stationed in Germany. Are they expected home for Christmas? P. M., Everett.

A—Not on schedule of units remaining in European theater during Christmas. Most likely will be returning soon.

Q—A soldier overseas (Italy) attached to 51th G. M. has 87 points. Will he be coming home shortly? S. V., Boston.

A—Men with high points such as in your case, are being returned to the U. S. as fast as possible from Italy to be discharged.

Q—Last December my husband enlisted in the Seabees. He was unaware I was to have a second child. Following basic training he was shipped overseas (Pacific). May I obtain a release for him on basis of hardship. I am suffering from asthma and unable to work. He was 30 years old? L. C. Boston.

A—Under naval regulations he may apply through his commanding officer for discharge due to hardship. It will be necessary for him to have a doctor's statement regarding your condition, a statement from a physician and also two disinterested persons who might receive additional information regarding procedure through local chapter of Red Cross or any veteran organization.

Behind Those Jobs...

The curtain is down. The world's worst tragedy ended as it had to end. All that remains is grief and glory and the hope of lasting good will among men.

From here on in... our No. 1 Job is jobs—not Japs. Soberly, let's look at our No. 1 Job.

We start with inspiring leadership from Washington. What next? Factories must change form. The wheels of Peace must hum again. Goods must roll to market... faster, faster, faster. Pent-up demand for trusted brand names must be satisfied in full. And then some! Service "with a smile" must greet us again. Researchers must press on. Old products must improve. New products must emerge. America's production miracle must be re-enacted. And all Americans must have a part! What's behind all this? Necessity? Yes. Courage? Yes. Know-how? Sure. Money? You said it—All kinds of money. The people's savings. Life insurance companies' investable funds. Inheritance funds. The profits and reserves of business enterprises—large and small.

Spendable wages of workers. Thrift money. Venture money. Investment money. The world's biggest bank roll! Made in America. Belonging to millions of Americans. Working for all Americans—so all Americans may work.

To master our No. 1 Job speedily and efficiently—and to preserve our Freedom in the process—we must have money in motion. Money in hiding means idleness. Money in motion means men at work. It's as simple as that!

Keeping America's money in motion is the business and responsibility of the world's greatest financial mechanism. This Exchange is only one vital cog. But it is vital. It does work for all America! It does keep money in motion! It does maintain a free, competitive market where securities may be bought or sold—where prices are instantly known. It does take its business and responsibilities seriously. It does operate under rigid, self-imposed regulation—as well as government regulation.

When you use these facilities you keep money in motion. Your investment is not frozen. You can hold, sell at any time—and reinvest. But remember, risk is inherent in any form of ownership. The risk you take can spell L-O-S-S or G-A-I-N! Beware of tips, rumors, hunches. Get the habit—get the facts!

Facts are available. Here's why. Before any company can list its securities in this investors' marketplace, that company agrees to report, regularly, essential facts concerning its management and financial condition. That's the foundation of this Exchange's policy. It applies to all listed companies. You'll find these facts at the office of Member Firms. Look for the emblem "Member, New York Stock Exchange."

Europe vs. U.S.A.: Sport As an Economic Factor

By AUSTEN LAKE

IN HIS RECENT ADDRESS BEFORE the Ladies' Missionary Gun Club, or maybe it was the Petunia and Thanatopsis Society, Com. Gene Tunney traced America's war victory to the "competitive spirit engendered by proficiency in sport." At the same time Congressman Sam Weiss of Pennsylvania says our overseas soldiers believe the finest agency to create comity between nations is athletics.

I argue that sport, per se, has never been of any practical service in war, even though Lord Wellington credited British victory at Waterloo to lessons learned on the playing fields of Eton. That in the light of later-day logic, is pure bunk. Because 99 per cent of the English army came from London's Soho, the Scottish fens, the Irish glens and the colonial crannies. Eton was a mere goose-pimple on England's military epidermis.

And the Russians, who were pretty good journeymen fighters, have next to no sport at all, but prefer contests in plowing, post-hole digging, brick laying, coal mining and general pick-and-shovel work. The Russian people worship horny-handed sons of toil as fanatically as the play-crazy Americans adored the non-essential Jack Dempsey and Babe Ruth. The Russians never learned to play, but worked diligently and have no sympathy for peoples who spend their energies in a passion for games. But the Americans, playful as we are, are prone to lay down their tools on slight provocation and scratch themselves and picket people who might like to work.

IN THE PRE-PEARL HARBOR DAYS when U. S. sympathies were heavily on the Finnish side in their rugged resistance to Russian mayhem, we were told that much of their combat qualities traced to their proficiency in marathon running and skiing. Because from babyhood they knew how to wobble down a ski, to learn intricate twists of lunge, slalom and slalom they were able to foray over the snows, chop Russian divisions into hamburger and scot safely away.

But skiing is not recognized as a sport in Finland. It is a necessity! For the ski is as utilitarian a part of a Finn's winter equipment as oilskins and rubber boots are to the Gloucester fisherman. The Finn skied because his winter begins in October and lasts until late May and the ski is his only means of locomotion over the celestial dunduff which falls three feet deep. The ski is as much a part of a Finn's feet as his toenails.

Most of the soldiers whom the U. S. 3d Army listed as its best fighters in this war were no athletes at all. They were men of hominy-shouters out of the moonshine regions of the South to brickbattion kids, some of whom grew up on lula and highballs. School, college and pro athletics did their share of heroics, but the guys who won the war were usually ones who never hugged a swinekin against their hearts or wore boxing mittens or fielded hot grounders.

Sport is a peacetime pursuit and no aid to war, per se. I sometimes doubt that sport is an aid to international amity, with the history of jealous bickerings, sneers and outrage which occur in the quadrennial Olympic games. But there is a sound defense for America's tophearty sport system just the same. Big time sport, whatever its faults, is a healthful opiate to national irritations. Whether it be college football, league baseball, hockey or glove lacrosse, it drains away a dangerous surplus of this country's intense emotions.

If you doubt it look at Continental Europe where sport has always been incidental or a state monopoly and where spiritual toxins (poisons, to you) generate until they erupt in anti-race prejudices, political intrigue and massed militarism. Sport is a trivial matter in Europe—a smattering of soccer, a little bicycle and motor racing, grade-B boxing.

Austen Lake

and a huge amount of calisthenics, body tortions and deep breathing. It's pretty hard to work up an emotional sweat by touching your toes or blowing finger kisses to imaginary sweethearts or chinning the bar.

A Nation of Thumb-Twiddlers!

THERE ARE FEW SPORT CRATERS in Europe such as cricket every city and almost every town in this country, to which people flock each season to watch lean and limber kids rip each other to anatomical shreds. Is it merely the love of oxygen and the kiss of the open air that brings them out? No! It's a peace-time logic for months' conversation, advanced conjectures and post mortems. We'll be arguing about the antics and accidents of the coming world series far into the winter.

Take away big time sport from American life and what have you got?

You have a Nation of spare-time thumb-twiddlers obliged to rummage in their minds for something to brood about. The human mind works that way! Gone would be the Saturday saturnalia, the strutting crowd leapers, the great horse-hops of howling humanity. Gone would be the week-long buildups in the daily journals and the Sunday morning reviews. For the majority of Americans attend the games, either in vile corpore, so to speak, or via the sport pages.

Few European countries have a national game and what they have is pretty la-la-dah! But America and Canada have devised hoisterous, rowdy games to suit their national temperaments—baseball, U. S. style football, hockey! And we recruit whiskey kermudgeons from factory, field, dock and mine and pit them against other whiskey kermudgeons, similarly recruited.

It's been one of our finest national assets in time past, and we hope it will come again to cool our collective thoughts and distract our minds from the many social and political gripes which are not so much real as they are imaginary. Big time sport is an attribute of the American people. I doubt that Europeans will or wish to, understand us athletically any more than they do financially or socially. To them we're gutter rats! Let's stay that way.

HC Choice Over Green

By WILL CONNELL

A powerful Holy Cross football squad was en route to Hanover this afternoon to tackle Dartmouth tomorrow in the most colorful game on a sparkling New England college program. With large Stan Koslowski heading a talented backfield cast behind a heavy line, Coach John D. Gross's Crusader machine is a heavy favorite to start its tough schedule with a decisive triumph.

Tuss McLaughry has Meryl Frost, prewar star, back with the Indians from a grim war stretch which included serious wounds sustained when shot down in Italy.

The talented 161-pound quarterback is reported regaining his former gridiron edge. Frost has as his co-captain another first class performer, Marine Trainee Carl McKinnon, at right guard. Still, the caliber of the squad makes it appear very much as though the Green will have to play inspired football to check Holy Cross.

With major league baseball interest at a low point since both Cubs and Tigers appear safely "in", the HC-Dartmouth fireworks helped bring grid interest to a new high point today.

A major college affair for Boston's home-bound customers has B. C. entertaining the Squantum Naval Base at the Heights. Squantum has a lineup composed largely of former college stars headed by Don Elser, former Notre Dame ace.

Moody Sarno has no such individual standouts at B. C., but has been driving his squad hard and chances are that the Eagles will have an edge in physical condition. On this probability hangs the team's chance of getting away on the right foot.

Down in New Haven tomorrow the Elis, unbeaten last year, have a first-class squad, rated better than the amazing group of 1914. Thus Coach Howie Odell and his Blue cohorts are the choice of the figure-forwarders to win by four or five touchdowns.

However, Lew Manly's Tufts upset the Coast Guard eleven a couple of weeks ago and has the benefit of that good seasoning. In addition, Tufts is in good shape and it wouldn't be surprising to see the Jumbos give Yale trouble.

Brown was headed for Philadelphia today for its date with heavily favored Penn. in the other event of major interest to New England folk.

Army, Navy Make Bows As Football Takes Over

By Associated Press

Topped by the opening games of the power-laden service teams, Army and Navy, virtually all the leading eleven in every section of the country will see action this week-end. Notre Dame and Ohio State are among them.

West Point entertains the Army Air Forces personnel distribution center while the Midgies play Villanova.

In the midwest, Notre Dame plays Illinois at South Bend, Michigan tries to get back on the winning side against Michigan State at Ann Arbor; Ohio State engages Missouri at Columbus, and Marquette and Wisconsin tangle at Milwaukee. Other top-flight midwest struggles include Indiana-Northwestern and Green Lakes-Purdue.

North Carolina-Georgia Tech, LSU-Rice, Tennessee-Wake Forest, Clemson-Georgia, Florida-Mississippi, N. C. State-Virginia top the cord in the South. In the Big Six, Oklahoma and Nebraska clash, while in the Southwest the Oklahoma Aggies-Arkansas, Texas-Southwestern and Tulsa-West Texas meetings are tops. On the Pacific Coast the Southern California-California and the Washington-Oregon tilts rate the headlines.

Leading games tonight include Syracuse-Temple, Kansas-Denver, Auburn-McCowell Field and Maryland-Guiford.

Bartolo Choice to Win Over Shapiro at Garden

By JACK CONWAY

SAL BARTOLO of East Boston, NBA featherweight champion, will enter the ring a 10 to 8 favorite over Maxie Shapiro of New York in their 10-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden tonight despite the fact the latter has won three decisions over him. Shapiro's margins in these tussles were not large ones, and it is expected that Bartolo's speed and sharp punching will carry him to the front this p. m.

Bartolo does his best boxing when the big chips are down. He knows that the must win from Shapiro to retain his position as the outstanding rival for Willie Pep who is recognized in New York as world's featherweight champion. Pep is the lone featherweight who has been able to outscore Bartolo when the latter was at the peak of his form.

Sal Bartolo

Bartolo gave his greatest Boston ring exhibition as he conquered Gus Mell, Montreal lightweight. Mell had previously given Bartolo close competition and he was of the opinion he could defeat the East Boston veteran.

Bartolo realized he had to show exceptional ring form to win from the improved Mell.

Sal prepared himself carefully for the tussle. He was faster than ever, while his blows packed much power. Mell was beaten decisively. If Bartolo is as good tonight as he was on that occasion, Shapiro will be in for a rough evening.

Shapiro is a fast, shifty boxer and lands a stinging blow with each hand.

JOHNNY PRETZIE of Watertown, who like Bartolo was a former All-America champion, will be back in action tonight with William Bell of Chicago as an opponent in an eight-round bout. Pretzie was recently discharged from the Army Air Corps. He did considerable boxing while in service and he feels he will be able to duplicate some of the key victories he scored when competing in the All-America championships.

Johnny Buckley, who piloted

Jack Sharkey to the world's heavyweight championship, is managing Pretzie.

In six-round bouts, Ken Conley of South Boston meets Johnny Pettie of Woburn, Vinnie Vazo of Revere, mingles with Al Smith of Roxbury, while Dave Andrews of Lowell, another All-America title holder when he was an amateur, will toss blows at Frankie Petrone of Philadelphia.

JAKE LAMOTTA, even though he lost to Ray Robinson in New York, is entitled to meet Tony Zale for the world's middleweight title when the champion gets back into action. Robinson was fortunate to edge out a decision over LaMotta in their bout in Chicago.

Robinson refused to risk an exchange of blows with the rugged LaMotta and backpedaled in the losing rounds.

LaMotta against Zale will prove a stirring bout. Zale, like LaMotta, is a wide-open, two-fisted ring warrior and he will risk blows with an opponent. Billy Conn was fortunate to outscore Zale in New York following his meeting with Joe Louis. There were some fans who saw that bout who felt Zale's aggressiveness entitled him to a draw.

Peabody Rebuilding Eleven

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Peabody High School's Tanners slipped through to the Class A championship last fall but Coach Bill Seeglitiz will be the least surprised fellow in the state if his new outfit takes a few beatings from trounced rivals hitting a trail of revenge over the next two months.

But, in a hurried follow-up, Coach Seeglitiz will insist in his western twang that there's hardly a club in the state that will "rub it in."

From that team that captured the state title, Peabody has only two full-fledged veterans back in the line-up. The remainder of the starting eleven has been made up by promoting a couple of boys from the junior varsity and the freshmen clubs; from reserves who never before had measured up in top assignments and even from seniors who never bothered to report for football before.

But in typical Seeglitiz manner, the entire squad is in the building process for future campaigns. Coach Seeglitiz has his assistant, Bill Healy of Wakefield, concentrating on the freshmen and sophomores. They'll be ready to step up to the varsity next fall and once again, Peabody will be setting off the fireworks.

Possibly, it's the Seeglitiz system at Peabody that helps so much in moulding winning teams. Coach Seeglitiz insists on line-charging every afternoon so that boys who haven't the real love for the game soon drop off. The ones who stick it out usually develop into great material.

That's one of the reasons why Peabody has such a tackle as Ray Potter, 222-pound sophomore, taking over first string. And such a back as Jimmy Smyrniotis, 162-pound sophomore, who'll probably be showing some neat passing ability against Lowell in the Lowell Bowl contest Sunday afternoon. And a center like Walt Karadenetz, 178 pounds, who'll be moving into games consistently.

Kardenez will still be listed as a junior but only because Coach Seeglitiz wants to give Jimmy Kallelas, 183-pound senior, plenty of opportunity to prove himself. Kallelas was listed as a back for the past three seasons but he never was fast enough. At center, he's been doing a whale of a job (against Wakefield, 6-0, and Lynn Classical, 7-0) so that he'll remain as the No. 1 pivot man.

As a running mate at guard, veteran Walter McHugh, 158, will have another of the "loose strings" that Coach Seeglitiz has pulled together in John Karahalis, a 204-pound senior. Karahalis has been knocking around for three seasons. He's getting his big chance to make good this fall.

Both ends of the line will be patrolled by juniors — Henry Heidler, 175-pound sub last season, and Ralph Bender, 188-pound converted tackle. The remaining tackle slot will be divided between Speros Agapakis, 178-pound senior who never played before, and George Kotchiropolos, 180-pound junior who worked some in 1944.

Peabody's only other veteran will be quarterback and Capt. Jack Connolly, a triple threat at 170 pounds. Connolly will be calling the plays for Smyrniotis, Leonard Cunningham, 162, and Hercules Harris, 160-pound junior. Cunningham, another senior, has been with the squad right along but never could smash the lineup. Other Tanners who will see
